Great events are accomplished by seizing the opportunity, watching for the right moment, and taking advantage of it; the knowing where, how, and when to strike. History bristles with instances; the records of our own country mark the facts by the deeds of a Paul Jones, a Farragut, a Dewey. Business life records it every day; our knowing where, how, and when gives us possession of the markets, and enriches you with the best of everything for the least money. To-morrow in this store is your opportunity; it will mark an event if you take advantage of it.
